I WATCHED SOMEONE DIE ON TIK TOK

ENTER INTO THE DARK WEB DOOM SCROLL

“Bold, brassy and combustible,” Sydney-based multi-award winning artist and 8-hour-a-day-screen-time user, Charlotte Otton (Feminah, 30-Day-Free Trial and Let me finish) delivers her new solo show I Watched Someone Die on Tik Tok, a hilarious, dark, deep-dive that dissects the hellscape we find ourselves currently subscribed to.

This new work explores the history, addiction and exploitation of our current digital desires and fears. Connecting the personal to the global. Relatable for anyone whose algorithm has latched onto their insecurities and fears and turned an innocent mindless scroll into a daily dose of life's latest horrors. I Watched Someone Die on Tik Tok will be performed at La Mama HQ for Melbourne Fringe 15 - 20 October 2024.

“Charlotte Otton is so watchable that even during curated moments of deep discomfort, I cannot keep my eyes off her.” – Art Murmurs

“Otton’s effortless comedic timing and wit had the audience in stitches throughout the entire show in a way that only a truly seasoned performer can do.” – State of the Art
